

Owlbut's World of Learning

at the heart of knowledge

Hi, here are the instructions for a project we'd like to try.

A RADIO SHOW

With this project we want you to plan a radio show which would play your choice of the best chart hits of 2020 and 2021. Your teacher will give you a list of chart hits of the year for you to choose from for your "show".

Unfortunately producing such a show is not just a simple matter of choosing tracks and playing them. You will have to fit into a tight schedule. The shows running time is 30 minutes and cannot overrun as you will be followed by a news bulletin which must start on time. With the list of hits, we have provided you with a running time for each track, rounded to the nearest quarter minute. You need to make sure that your choices will fit into 30 minutes.

However things are not that simple, this is "real" life. Within your 30 minute show you must have two advertisements, this is a commercial station and can only function from money paid by advertisers. You, as the DJ, are expected to write the adverts and each must last exactly 30 seconds. Once again your teacher will give you some info about each product.

You will also need to factor into your timings the time taken to introduce each track and this is where you can be flexible, but only by a little bit. Your intros can be either  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a minute or  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a minute. We have made an example and this will also be given to you by your teacher.

Good luck.
